Achieving the Dream, achievingthedream.org
8403 Colesville Rd, Silver Spring, MD 20910
Achieving the Dream is a comprehensive non-governmental reform movement for student success that has a network of over 200 innovative and student-focused community colleges across 35 states and the District of Columbia dedicated to increasing access and success for all students. Achieving the Dream works with colleges to redesign the way students experience college in order to assure that students, especially low-income students and students of color, achieve their goals for academic success, personal growth, and economic opportunity. Achieving the Dream would like to host two students in order to share the work of the organization (our mission and the strategies we use to accomplish it) as well as the benefits of pursuing a career in the non-profit sector. We would like to host the students collectively as an organization. That is, the students will spend time throughout the day in each of our departments to learn more comprehensively about the different work and types of jobs done here. In this way, the students will be exposed to a cross-functional and cross-hierarchical view of the organization. We hope the students will walk away with an enhanced passion for a career in education and/or non-profits.

AIR is one of the world’s largest behavioral and social science research and evaluation organizations. Our overriding goal is to use the best science available to bring the most effective ideas and approaches to enhancing everyday life. For us, making the world a better place is not wishful thinking. It is the goal that drives us. Founded in 1946 as a not-for-profit organization, we conduct our work with strict independence, objectivity and non-partisanship. The intellectual diversity of our 1,800 employees enables us to bring together experts from many fields in the search for innovative answers to challenges that span the human life course. AIR’s mission is to conduct and apply the best behavioral and social science research and evaluation towards improving peoples’ lives, with a special emphasis on the disadvantaged. In the Education Program at AIR, we connect rigorous research, policy, and practice to support and improve education. Within the United States and internationally, AIR will be the preeminent organization that produces improvements in education, health, and the workforce;
- addresses the needs of individuals, organizations, and communities;
- designs and advances statistical and research methods;
- causes practitioners and organizations to adopt evidence-based practices; and
- informs public understanding and policymaking by the best evidence.

The student will have the opportunity to observe a project director and his research team at AIR doing work for the U.S. Department of Education as part of a large federal contract that supports activities pertaining to international surveys and assessments. The project team assists with activities focused on four large-scale international surveys/assessments: the Program for International Student Assessment (PISA), the Progress in International Reading Literacy Study (PIRLS), the Trends in International Mathematics and Science Study (TIMSS), and the Teaching and Learning International Survey (TALIS) (see http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/international/). Work activities primarily include researching topics pertaining to comparative and international education, reading, mathematics, and science; assisting with data analysis; conducting data quality checks; preparing and reviewing data tables, figures, and data documentation; assisting with writing and the review of research papers and statistical reports; revising manuscripts in response to editorial and technical comments; preparing products for release based on detailed publication standards; assisting with website updates; and developing presentations for professional audiences.

Booz Allen Hamilton, bah.com
17179 Webster Field Rd, St. Inigoes, MD 20684
Industry: Communication, Consulting

I have daily exposure on client site at Webster Field (St. Inigoes, MD) to engineering (hardware/software), logistics, shipping receiving, etc. My personal fields include both technical editing (English and Communication) and Procurement. Procurement could include business, accounting, purchasing, marketing, sales, etc. I will be able to have the student shadow or at least be able to see inside each of these career fields, as we all work very closely on the project. We have a number of Govt. Clients and Booz Allen Professionals and I have access to our lab where all of the systems and material are. I would say the student should have an interest in Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAV) and/or video dissemination, and working in the Government field. This is a very fast paced project. I cover and assist with an array of projects on our contract. One of our most notable projects is the Tactical Intelligence, Surveillance, & Reconnaissance (ISR) Processing, Exploitation, & Dissemination (PED) System (TIPS). Booz Allen provides technical services and project management to the Ship Air Integrated Warfare (SAIW) division in their support of NAVAIR PMA-263 unmanned systems, and advanced technology development initiatives. TIPS was developed to meet specific mission requirements for the tactical unmanned systems program office in support of the Navy/Marine Corps.

possible for everyone. In short, we believe that when people are connected to each other in relationships, given access to what feeds their soul, and have the opportunity to contribute to a purpose larger than their own, meaningful life and work happens. Integrate is dedicated to providing health and fitness services to residents (and their families), staff, and the community as a whole. This is accomplished by offering services through our Fitness Center and affiliated programs. The Health and Fitness Department programming includes health-related educational presentations, group exercise, and fitness program instruction.

Knucklepuck, knucklepuckmedia.com
1005 N. Glebe Rd. Suite 300, Arlington, VA 22203
Industry: Communications/Media, Technology

Knucklepuck is a startup digital marketing agency based in Arlington, Virginia. We perform search engine optimization, content planning and production, web design and development, link outreach, technical site audits and paid media advertising for our clients. Knucklepuck operates as an extension of our clients’ marketing teams. We don’t just optimize their websites for search engines, we build web experiences that elevate their brands, engage users and drive sustainable growth. Our team is comprised of a diverse group of technical marketers, web developers and content writers who provide data-driven solutions for our clients. Our clients span industries — from e-commerce to lead generation, enterprise software to local businesses, and Fortune 500 companies. Our industry is new and growing rapidly, and so is Knucklepuck. We are actively looking to hire full-time employees and part-time interns to facilitate that growth. Knucklepuck welcomes Terps from any major interested in learning more about digital marketing, technology and entrepreneurship. During our one-day shadowing program, Terps will experience what it’s like to work in the fast-paced digital marketing field with a company that mirrors the industry’s growth. Terps will start the shadow day with a general overview of the company, including an office tour and an introduction to what digital marketing and SEO is, our business and our clients. Terps will have an opportunity to shadow each of our teams — SEO, content, development and PPC — observing projects, processes and asking questions. For example, the SEO team may show Terps how they do client reporting, perform web crawls using various tools and conduct link outreach during the shadow. Terps will have the opportunity to meet with our founder/CEO and discuss entrepreneurship and starting their own business. Terps will get an overview of the project management tools we use, like Slack and Trello, and learn how they can use these tools to support their academics. Terps will have an opportunity to speak with team members one-on-one, if they choose, to ask questions about the staff’s experience, education, job advice, etc.

Maryland Office of Administrative Hearings, oah.state.md.us Industry: Law
11101 Gilroy Rd, Hunt Valley, MD 21031

The Maryland Legislature created the independent Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) in 1990 to provide the public with a corp of Administrative Law Judges to decide appeals of administrative agency decisions. This action increased the fairness of administrative hearings by ensuring that the decision-maker presiding over an administrative hearing was not an employee of the same State agency that was involved in the dispute. Creating the OAH also saved the State of Maryland the substantial cost of maintaining individual administrative hearing units in each State agency. The Maryland OAH employs approximately fifty-five Administrative Law Judges, each of whom was a seasoned lawyer prior to his or her appointment as an Administrative Law Judge. Administrative Law Judges preside over thousands of hearings a year and pride themselves on maintaining an outstanding record of issuing a decision in each case within ninety days or less. Each Administrative Law Judge travels around the State to provide Maryland residents, businesses and State agency personnel with an administrative hearing in as convenient a location as possible. Maryland is one of twenty-seven States to establish a centralized panel of judges for the purpose of administrative adjudication. Maryland's OAH handles cases arising from a larger variety of State agencies than any other central panel in the country and is one of the largest central panel agencies in the United States. Based on its lengthy history, size, and expertise in administrative law, other jurisdictions interested in creating a central panel frequently contact the Maryland OAH for advice on how to create a similar system. Students will be invited to sit and observe hearings on a variety of topic areas.

MCPS: Montgomery County Public Schools (9 hosts), montgomeryschoolsmd.org

Industry: Education

Cashell Elementary School (17101 Cashell Rd, Rockville, MD 20853): I work as a speech-language pathologist in an elementary school setting. I work with students in preschool through fifth grade with a wide range of needs. The preschool students have intensive needs, as many are just developing language and working on basic communication skills. I have students in general education K-5 who have needs in the areas of articulation, answering questions, describing, social language/pragmatics, and nonliteral language. Finally, I also see students in 2 special needs K-5 classes who have disabilities such as autism, Down Syndrome, intellectual disability, or other physical impairments. A typical day consists of multiple group or individual sessions and consultations with other staff members/related service providers. The student who comes to shadow would be able to sit in during individual and group sessions, either in a speech room or in special education classrooms. If comfortable, they would be able to assist in setting up materials, collecting data, and helping students complete tasks. If the student would prefer to solely observe, that's fine too!

Industry: Non-Profit

For students interested in nonprofits, we offer a few into the facets of day-to-day operations of a 95-staff nonprofit office. This includes a view at how NCARB uses Agile as a project management and team collaboration approach. For students with a particular interest in meeting/event planning we offer an experience seeing a detailed view of what it takes to plan an event. A visiting student would participate in an inter-departmental stand-up, potentially sit-in on inter- and intra-team planning meetings with a scrum master, and gain an insight into how a medium sized nonprofit runs. The student's day would be set-up to provide an overall nonprofit view and/or meeting/event planning focus. NCARB is a nonprofit organization with a membership composed of 54 jurisdictions that license architects in the US. Members are all 50 states, Guam, DC, Puerto Rico, and the US Virgin Islands. Our mission is to facilitate licensure while protecting the health, safety and welfare of the general public. Our stakeholders are aspiring architects, licensed architects, and others. Our organization works with licensing board representatives who are practicing architects, academics, licensing board representatives appointed by a state governor, and more. NCARB oversees the exam one must pass in order to become licensed, oversees an experience requirement program, assists those working towards licensure.

From the smart electric power grid and electronic health records to atomic clocks, advanced nanomaterials, and computer chips, innumerable products and services rely in some way on technology, measurement, and standards provided by NIST. The Material Measurement Laboratory (MML) is one of two metrology laboratories within NIST. Our laboratory has developed software to capture descriptive information about activities performed by our scientists, and assess the risks related to the hazards associated with that activity. Students will shadow the lead developer of the application, learn about its development (including considerations about security), and also observe meetings setting requirements for this/these (or other) application(s) being actively developed. Application development practices including version control, automated testing, and the agile development process will also be demonstrated and discussed.

NOAA/National Ocean Service, oceanservice.noaa.gov
1305 East-West Hwy, Silver Spring, MD 20910
Industry: Government

I work for the National Ocean Service -NOS. The National Ocean Service is a Line Office within the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration -NOAA. The Division is responsible for cross-cutting communications activities, comprehensive educational products and programs, and outreach tools including websites, print and multimedia products, and curricula. The Division assists NOS offices in their outreach and education efforts by developing centralized products and tools and providing technical assistance to office staff. I manage the Ocean Today kiosk program which is a touch-screen kiosk that provides ocean information in the form of short videos to museum-goers. Kiosks are located in 41 locations, primarily museums and science centers around the country, Mexico, Canada and the UK. I program the software that makes the videos accessible to the museum visitor. These same videos are made available on oceantoday.noaa.gov, the program’s website. I update this web site as new videos are produced. This aspect of my job involves working daily with a video producer and editor however I am not the one creating the videos. Shadowing me would give you an opportunity to learn how this program is put together, both the kiosk and our website and how the network of 43 kiosks are updated from a central server.

Education Abroad offers UMD students 400+ opportunities to live and learn abroad. Programs run year round and are available for students in all majors. I work on a variety of projects and ongoing tasks to support Education Abroad’s advising team. Some examples of what I do: I schedule and coordinate logistics for some events, workshops, and orientations; offer general advising to students at the start of their program research and application process; maintain student records in our database using Terra Dotta’s Studio Abroad; collaborate with advisors to generate resources for students; participate in advising and all-staff team meetings to plan for each week; attend trainings within our office and across campus; and constantly learn as much as I can about our students, program options, scholarship and financial aid opportunities, and best practices within study abroad. Interns will likely experience a fairly busy day in the office on any given day, but in different ways on different days: some days are mostly desk work, other days include one or more meetings in the office or around campus, and most days include some advising hours which students can book for appointments to meet with me. Scheduling with an intern will involve coordinating not only our schedules, but also planning to host the student on a day or days where I will be working on things that interest them.
